Announcement of Appointment

Karmen McEvoy is selected as Principal of Central Park Middle School

The Schenectady City School District is pleased to announce that on January 5, 2022, the board of education approved the appointment of Karmen McEvoy as principal of Central Park Middle School. McEvoy will begin the transition into her new role immediately by working alongside current principal Mr. Jason Rogers who announced he will be leaving at the end of January.

McEvoy has been an administrator in the Schenectady City School District for more than 20 years. She worked as an assistant director and then the director of adult and continuing education, a middle school principal for several years, and since 2013 has served as a principal on special assignment. McEvoy began her career as a special education teacher in Schenectady in 1996.

“Throughout her career in Schenectady, Ms. McEvoy has demonstrated an unwavering commitment to our students,” said Anibal Soler, Jr., superintendent of schools. “She brings vast experience and offers the leadership, dedication and skills needed to continue building a strong middle school culture and learning environment. She is committed to engaging and collaborating with parents, students and staff.”

“I am excited to be joining the Central Park Middle School team, where I will be working alongside a dedicated staff and school community,” said McEvoy. “I look forward to building a relationship with the students, families, and staff.”

McEvoy earned a Bachelor of Science in Special Education from the College of Saint Rose, Master of Science in Education, School Administration and Supervision (SAS) Certification, and School District Administration Certification (SDA) from Massachusetts College of Liberal Arts.
