They have talked about going to CO college, Stanford, Princeton and CU boulder.

Right now they are initial winners and the Boettcher Foundation will finalize the class after April 15, which is the decision deadline.

“They’re great – I think what so impressed our staff and interview committee is their strong foundation in both their values and their work ethic,” said Katy Craig, director of Boettcher Foundation scholarship program. “They had the academic part down, but were also all around great guys.”
