Jeffco Public Schools Hires Chief Student Success Officer

GOLDEN, Colo. (February 5, 2016) – Jeffco Public Schools is pleased to announce that Kevin Carroll has been hired as the new Chief Student Success Officer. Carroll has vast school experience, both teaching and in administration, at all levels, most recently as the principal of Bear Creek High School. In addition, Carroll has been a member of several district advisory committees and system improvement teams.

“It is clear through his body of work that he has a special and distinct focus on student success,” said Superintendent Dan McMinimee. “We are excited for him to join our Cabinet Team and know that he will be a driving force in making sure we are keeping students front and center in our decision making.”

As the Chief Student Success Officer, Carroll will be directly responsible for the programs that meet the differentiated needs of our students, coordinating the many student learning support programs and redesigning the special education and health service systems. Carroll will collaborate directly with Chief Academic Officer Syna Morgan and Chief School Effectiveness Officer Terry Elliot, and will report directly to Superintendent Dan McMinimee.
